

Save the Tigers!

In 1970 we came dangerously close to losing, forever, one of the most magnificent creatures. Poaching, deforestation, and human expansion brought all species of the tiger to the brink of extinction. Indeed, over the past century, three of eight subspecies that existed became extinct: the Caspan, Javan, and Balinese (Bali) tigers. All the remaining subspecies of tiger are endangered, making the tiger species, as a whole, nearly extinct and that's why we need to do something about it!

All, young and old, need to save the tigers because they keep the population of Gazelle, Antelope, and Wilder beasts under control. If you really look into it, the tigers are very magnificent creatures! They run like cheetahs! They pounce like jaguars! They roar like lions, but if you don't help now they will be gone forever!!!

There are many things you can do to save the tigers of the world. You can help by donating to the Tiger Foundation, or you can help all the animals and donate to the National Fish and Wildlife Association. Also, you can recycle and reuse paper so we don't have to cut as many trees down so the tigers can have a home too! Ask any zoo near you how you can help in your own way!
