

THE

READING ZONE

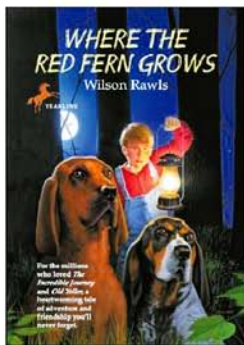

STUDENT BOOK REVIEW

Where the Red Fern Grows

By Wilson Rawls

Published by Laurel Leaf

Where the Red Fern Grows is sort of a sad story about a little boy named Billy and his two hound dogs. Billy wants some hound dogs so bad that he earns the money by selling vegetables and fish bait to fishermen. The dogs are a lot of money, but Billy saves it all in two years. All the money that Billy saves, he gives it to his Grandpa so his Grandpa can order the dogs for Billy. Billy doesn't tell his dad about the money because his dad wants to get a new mule. Billy got the names of his dogs from a carving in a tree. Old Dan is the male dog and Little Ann is the female. Billy and the dogs had many adventures together. If you want to find out how the book ends, you should read this book. I liked it so much, I have read it twice.

"I couldn't put it down." - Callie Zenda

"I found myself relating to the main character."
- Jimmy Sottile

BORDERS

Promenade of Westlake, 892-7667

17200 Royalton Rd., Strongsville 846-1144

Borders Express, 324-5355
4333 Midway Blvd, Elyria

Newspapers In Education
225 East Ave., Elyria
www.chroniclet.com

Reviewed by ...

Dylan Suckow

McCormick Middle School,
Wellington

Teacher:

Stacey Goble

Grade: 7

What book will you read next?:

The Mystery on Alaska's Iditarod Trail
by Carole Marsh

Favorite Place

To Read:

My room or in study hall

What do you like to read about?:

Books about hunting and sports.

Teachers

Want to have your students participate?

E-mail:

bsuckow@chroniclet.com
or call 329-7183